5. Name Requirements

Name requirements are set out in the BNA and the General Regulation made under the BNA. Examples are set out below. It is the registrant’s responsibility to ensure compliance; if a name is registered that is contrary to the requirements, the name is subject to cancellation at any time under section 4 of the BNA.

Only letters from the Roman alphabet, Arabic numerals or a combination of letters from the Roman alphabet and Arabic numerals together with punctuation marks and prescribed marks may form part of a registered name.

Business names that contain characters from other alphabets must be translated and registered in a language that contains only letters from the Roman alphabet. A business name in a language other than one using the Roman alphabet may be used in advertising and signs, but the registered business name must also be displayed in a language using the Roman alphabet.

The following marks may be included in the business name:

The following marks may be used only as part of a French character and not separately:

The first character of a name must be a letter of the Roman alphabet, an Arabic numeral or one of following marks:

The registrant is responsible for ensuring that the name complies with the BNA and General Regulation. For example, certain words or expressions cannot be used:

- Words or expressions, in any language, that are contrary to public policy, including a word or expression that is scandalous, obscene or immoral.
- Words or expressions that would suggest that the registrant is a form of organization that the registrant is not. For example, you may not imply that a sole proprietorship is a partnership. You may not use numbers or words that imply the business name is a corporate number name. In addition, the registered name of a business carried on for profit should not contain words that imply it is a not-for-profit organization.
- The word “college”, “institute” or “university”, if the use of the word would suggest that the registrant is a post-secondary educational institution, unless written consent is received from the Minister of Colleges and Universities or such other member of the Executive Council as may be assigned the administration of the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities Act.
- The word “Limited”, “Limitée”, “Incorporated”, “Incorporée”, “Corporation”, or any abbreviation of these words. There is an exception for the use of the word “limited” in the name of a limited liability partnership, extra-provincial limited liability company or in the name of a limited partnership formed under the Limited Partnerships Act (LPA).
- The words “Limited Liability Partnership” or the abbreviation “LLP” in the business name unless you are registering an Ontario limited liability partnership or an extra-provincial limited liability partnership.
- The words “Limited Liability Company” or the abbreviation “LLC” in the business name unless you are registering an extra-provincial limited liability company.
- A word, expression or abbreviation the use of which is restricted under an Act or regulation of Canada or Ontario unless the registrant satisfies the restriction.
- A word or expression that suggests that the business or activity of the registrant is connected with (a) the Crown in right of Canada or in right of a province, (b) the Government of Canada or of a territory or province, (c) a municipality, or (d) an agency of the Crown or of a government or municipality, unless the registrant obtains the written consent of the applicable Crown, government, municipality or agency.
- The name of a specific individual unless, (a) at any time before or during the period of the registration of the name, the individual has or had a material interest in the business or activity carried on by the registrant; and (b) the individual consents in writing to the use of his or her name. If the individual is deceased and his or her death occurred within 30 years before the name is registered, the heir, executor or administrator of the individual may consent in writing to the use of the individual's name.

6. General Information

Certificate of Registration as Proof of Business Name Registration

A Certificate of Registration together with your Registration Information may be used as proof of business name registration at financial institutions and to facilitate any other business-related registration with the Ontario government.

A Master Business Licence will no longer be issued. If you have a Master Business Licence, it remains valid until it expires or is cancelled. If you amend or renew your registration, you will receive a Certificate of Registration and Registration Information to replace the Master Business Licence.

Business Identification Number (BIN) and Business Number (BN)

The Ministry assigns a BIN when a business name is registered in Ontario. The provincial BIN is different than the federal Business Number (BN). The BN is assigned by the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) for federal programs.

NAICS code

The North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) code is a 2 to 6 digit number based on the main activity of your corporation or other entity. You must select the primary code that best describes the main activity of your corporation or other entity. For example, a code for a hair salon could be "812116 – unisex hair stylist shops"). The NAICS code is required under the BNA and LPA and appears on the public record in respect of filings made under those Acts.

If you are filing online, you may type the word associated with your main activity and the electronic business registration system will provide a code that you may select to complete that field. To view a complete list of NAICS codes please visit Statistic Canada's website at: <https://www150.statcan.gc.ca/n1/en/catalogue/12-501-X>.

If you are filing in paper, please refer to the list of activities from NAICS (the above link) that best describes the primary activity and then indicate your primary activity code from the link in the form.

Exclusivity of Business Name

The BNA does not protect the exclusivity of a registered name. You may be able to protect your business name by registering a trademark under the Trademarks Act (federal legislation).

The BNA does not prohibit registration of identical names, but if you decide to use a name that is the same as or confusingly similar to that of an existing business, it could result in a lawsuit. The person registering the name also assumes full responsibility for any risk of confusion with an existing corporation, business name or trademark. You may also wish to do some research to see if incorporating is a better alternative for your business. Identical corporation names cannot be incorporated in Ontario with limited exceptions. If you incorporate and carry on business under the corporate name set out in the Articles of Incorporation, there is no requirement to register under the BNA. However, if the corporation is operating with a name that is different from its corporate name, the operating name must be registered under the BNA.

The registrant of a business name who has suffered damages because someone else has registered the same name or one that is deceptively similar can take legal action through the courts. The BNA entitles you to recover compensation for damages suffered and provides for a court order cancelling the registration that was the cause of the action (section 6 of the BNA).

Limited Liability Partnerships and Extra-Provincial Limited Liability Partnerships

A limited liability partnership may carry on business in Ontario only for the purpose of practising a profession governed by an Act, and only in accordance with the provisions of section 44.2 of the Partnerships Act. The firm name of an Ontario limited liability partnership must contain the words “limited liability partnership” or “société à responsabilité limitée” or the abbreviations “LLP”, “L.L.P.” or “s.r.l.” as the last words or letters of the firm name. The firm name of an extra-provincial limited liability partnership must include the words or abbreviations, if any, that identify the partnership as a limited liability partnership that are required by the laws of the jurisdiction under which the partnership is governed. Ontario and extra-provincial limited liability partnerships are not permitted to carry on business in Ontario unless they have registered their firm name under the BNA, and are not permitted to carry on business in Ontario under a name other than its registered firm name. Please see sections 44.1 to 44.4 of the Partnerships Act, and sections 13 and 15-17 of the General Regulation under the BNA for more information.

Designated partner

A partner who approves the filing of a partnership firm name registration, or an amendment, renewal or cancellation of a firm name registration on behalf of a partnership shall be known as a designated partner if more than 10 persons are associated in the partnership, and either the partnership has a principal place of business in Ontario or the partner has an address for service in Ontario (section 16 of the General Regulation under the BNA).

A designated partner may omit the information required under the regulation in respect of partners other than the designated partner if the requirements of subsections 16 (3) to (8) of the General Regulation are met. These subsections require the designated partner to maintain specified partnership records at the partnership's principal place of business in Ontario, or, if the partnership does not have a principal place of business in Ontario, at the designated partner's address for service in Ontario. Upon request and without charge, any partner shall permit a person to inspect the records during the normal business hours of the partnership or, if applicable, of the designated partner's address for service in Ontario and to make copies or take extracts from them. See section 16 of the General Regulation for more information.

Extra-Provincial Limited Liability Companies

An extra-provincial limited liability company is not permitted to carry on business in Ontario unless it has registered its company name under the BNA, and is not permitted to carry on business in Ontario under a name other than its registered company name. There is a limited exception under subsection 2.1 (3.1) if the name is set out in a partnership registration under the BNA or a declaration under the LPA.

Certain Amended Registrations Not Required

In some cases, the Registrar may issue an amended registration showing a change if that change was previously made in accordance with the BNA or another Act and recorded in the Ministry records. In that case, the registrant is not required to file an amended registration. See section 4.1 of the BNA for more information.

Changes that Require a New Registration

If the registrant is changing the following information, a new registration must be filed instead of an amended registration:

- Business name
- All the partners in a partnership
- Type of registrant (for example, changing a sole proprietorship to partnership)

Amending Administrative Information

If the registrant's official email address has changed, you must notify the Ministry of this change in administrative information by using the amended registration filing option, although this is not considered an amended registration for the purposes of the BNA. Administrative information is collected under the authority of the Business Regulation Reform Act, 1994.
